Bio

Gaetano ('Gai') Barone was born in Italy 33 years ago and started to play piano at only 4 years. He keeps on playing till he meets the club sound in 1989, falling in love with house music, especially acid house.

In 1990 he started DJ-ing all over Italy playing tracks from progressive to techno, feeding his passion for music, traveling around Europe and breathing the influences of great clubs and wonderful cities. In 1995 he started to produce some elementary and minimal tracks using f-tracker, old but nice software.

From now on, he lives with music and for music. In 1998 he moves to Germany and then to England where he learns the "techno culture". He keeps producing better tracks ranging from chill-out to hard trance. In 2008 he chooses to play with progressive and trance sounds. His debut is the remix of "Memento – Whitenite", for Navigation Records.

His first EP "Solegirasoli" was signed to Ultimate House records, whereas the next one, following immediately after, called "Moving" was out on Mesmerized Records reaching nr 13 in the Audiojelly Progressive/Tribal chart.

The collaboration with Ask4 Records brings Gai Barone to another step in his career. "Appetite" is a massive progressive trance tune and will certainly mark the success he is been dreaming of for so long! And this is only the beginning ...
